Fuel Costs Surprisingly Similar

Among winter's phenomena this year is the fact that fuel consumption in Andover schools is almost exactly the same, barrel for barrel, as it was at the same time last year. Plant Engineer Al Hart reported this week that as of the end of January, the schools had used 6539 barrels of #4 heating fuel between July 1, 1976 and Jan. 31, 1977, compared to 6540 barrels at the same time last year.

Because of the increased price of fuel, however, the cost has been slightly higher this year — $87,107 to $85,876.

Demands made on the heating systems by the cold weather have apparently been compensated for by the eight days school has been closed.

The system has also used slightly less of #2 oil, which is used primarily for hot water.

All schools are heated by #2 oil except the high school, which is all-electric. As of mid-January, the high school's electric consumption was up about 23 percent from last year — 1,621,500 kilowatt hours compared to 1,386,000 in 1976-76, at a cost of $58,918 compared to $48,044.

The option agreement to purchase the Sacred Heart building is in the hands of the attorney representing the Brothers of the Sacred Heart, and signing is expected to take place soon.

Philip Singleton of Crowninshield Co., the real estate developers planning to convert the building to apartment use, said the agreement was given to Atty. Donald Glaser Wednesday afternoon for his review.

The agreement was reached following sessions with town boards last Thursday and a hearing for a variance before the Aoning Board of Appeals last Thursday night.

The signing of the agreement to purchase the building, expected to come within the next few days, will trigger the town's negotiation for the land and Cardinal Cushing gymnasium, also part of the Sacred Heart parcel in Shawsheen.

Town meeting last year provided funds for the purchase of the land and gym building.

The town's industrial development commission has put together the total package which will place the building on the tax rolls and provide the town with the land for conservation and recreation use.

The decision to go before the board of appeals by Crowninshield negates the need for a special town meeting this month. Favorable action by the zoning board on the petition presented last week, will also allow withdrawal of the zoning article in the annual town meeting.

Singleton said that his group and the brothers have agreed in principle on all matters concerning the purchase of the building. Now it is up to review by counsel representing the Brothers.

Going the zoning board of appeals route by Crowninshield, has, in addition to speeding up the timetable for conversion of the building, provided an acceleration in

Richards' Photos On Exhibit

"Dorchester Days," a collection of 80 photographs by Eugene Richards, will be on view at the Addison Gallery of American Art, Andover through Feb. 27.

Richards' photographs were made in Dorchester, the troubled, racially-mixed area of Boston where he was raised and to which he returned in 1974. His interest is in the faces of Dorchester: working people, children, street people, the elderly, derelicts. The images are sometimes bitter, often humorous; all are invested with an angry energy born of the clash between Richards' memories of the area as a child and his confrontation with the intractable present.

Richards has had previous one-man shows in Boston, New York, Louisville and London and has published a book of photographs: Few Comforts or Surprises: The Arkansas Delta.

Running concurrently with the exhibit, the Addison Gallery will show a videotape of an interview with Richards made by the Boston Museum of Fine Arts that details his philosophy and work habits. In addition, the photographs shown in the exhibition will be offered at a reduced price for the duration of the show.

The public is invited to the exhibit opening on Friday, Feb. 4, from 8-10 p.m. The Addison Gallery of American Art, on the campus of Phillips Academy, is open free to the public from 10 a.m.-5 p.m. Tuesday through Saturday, and 2:30-5 p.m. on Sundays.

Election Activity Still Slow

Little interest is being shown to date in the annual town election, with a little over a week to go before the nomination filing deadline.

As of noon on Wednesday, the town clerk's office had only three candidates for the two positions on the board of selectmen, one for the two three year terms on the school committee, two seeking the three year vacancy on the Housing Authority and a single candidate for moderator.

In Vermont where deposits must be made on beverage containers there has been a 67 percent reduction in container litter, Massachusetts Audubon says.

The contribution appears in the February issue as follows:

One stormy New England afternoon, I noticed an appealing, wet Airedale terrier wandering around in my garden. Thinking he was lost, I coaxed him into my house and gave him warm milk. His only identification was a collar medallion inscribed with a rabies-injection number and the name and telephone number and the name and telephone number of an animal hospital, but no city. I called the number, but the answering party had never heard of the animal hospital. I called the police stations in my area, veterinarians, animal shelters, kennel clubs and all the dog lovers I knew, drawing blanks everywhere.

I finally called the long-distance telephone operator, described my problem and asked if the number might be out of state. She eventually called back to report that she had tracked the number to Phoenix, Ariz., and connected me with the animal hospital named on the dog's tag. I read the veterinarian the rabies-injection number; he checked his records and found that the dog had recently moved to Andover, Mass. — and live in the house next to mine.

Crime Prevention Exchange Club Aim

The Exchange Club of Andover, in conjunction with the National Exchange Club, have launched their year-long crime prevention campaign.

Feb. 6 marked the start of National Crime Prevention Week for the over 1,300 Exchange Clubs across the nation, the 30th consecutive year the program has been conducted.

"We're well aware that the problem of crime in this country is not going to be solved with posters and sloganeering," Mike Lebreck, president of the local service club said. "We know that the roots of the problem are deep-seated and complex. But we also know that the problem won't disappear if we simply stand around and make no effort to prevent it."

What the Exchangites are going to do is attempt to tell as many people as they can about a number of simple and common sense measures they can take to reduce their chances of becoming a victim of crime. The 27 members of the Andover Exchange Club will begin distributing a handy little pamphlet called a "Personal Crime Prevention Action File." The 12-page booklet explains a number of ways the citizen can protect his home, his family and his car against injury and theft as well as an indexed system to record vital telephone numbers, inventory household valuables, and list other important information such as credit card numbers and property serial numbers.

"Exchange Clubs have been actively campaigning to reduce crime for nearly 30 years," Mike Lebreck explained. "During that time, we've learned a lot. Probably the most important fact is that a lot of crimes occur because people literally ask for it. By disregarding some very simple precautions, they literally invite these actions against themselves. If we can show people how to prevent this kind of crime, we can at least prevent a lot of unhappiness and sorrow."

The Exchangites will also be putting up posters carrying the slogan of this year's crime prevention campaign which is "Make Crime Prevention Click." In addition, the Andover club's Crime Prevention Committee, headed by Tom Leonard, also plans a full schedule of other crime prevention activities.

If you desire copies of the Exchange Club's "Personal Crime Prevention Action File," they can be obtained by sending name, address and number wanted to: Andover Exchange Club — c/o Thomas G. Leonard, DDS — 451 Andover Street — North Andover, Mass. 01845.

A Couple of Train Rides of Importance

Despite having had many train rides from here to Boston and back, two particular ones were etched in memory, even though they occurred so long ago. The first was that initial trip as a mere youngster and the last passenger train to Andover. The first one, of course, was the one that I took with John Dougan, who was freight agent for the Wabash Railway at the New England office, 80 Federal St., Boston. He made the commuter run daily from Andover.

On the particular day we had walked along Maple Avenue, down Elm Street to Essex to the station to meet the 7:11 to Boston. We had arrived in sufficient time for a doughnut and a cup of coffee at the station before the engine came steaming up to the platform, then crowded with commuters. I know I was quite young, because those were the days when drinking coffee under the age of 18 was sure to stunt your growth, a medical fable John knew then was wrong, and I have since proved him right. Environmental protection was unheard of in those days, which was obvious from the thick black smoke pouring out of the steam locomotive which ground to a halt just beyond the station itself and the passenger cars stretched about half way to the Tyer Rubber plant.

We headed straight for the smoker, where John immediately ignited his ever-present cigar and proceeded to introduce the rest of the commuter when one of the boys between Andover and Boston, and 8 a.m., the tracks the 'Vale' junction, Wakefield, Andover and reaching at about 8

The Young Commuter

I cup of coffee at one of the many lunch North Station, it was on to the Federal day. What transpired the rest of the day, one now John, who could best be described as a nice fellow from whom, if you wished for it, it was generally forthcoming in a matter of time. One day I picked up a new baseball glove with it (probably would have had a few dangers of lugging it home on the following a healthy lunch at a downtown train, via a local, was also enjoyed a conversation with the conductor reviewing the day's adventures. North Andover in John's 1936 never went over 40 MPH in all the time it was about 30.

Remembering the shock and the approved of the smoker and the obit ment.

I'm not sure I ever forgot the shock and the approved of the smoker and the obit ment.

Those thoughts were carried aboard the final run from Essex and M., under the direction

Paul Abbot, B. and M. sent vited me to sit in the cab, since that first train ride.

But it was a lot different. There were only two Budd c. Up front, Engineer Abbot was different.

He's been on the line for 36 years. There were 500 engineers on the line. In the particular route we were used to roll over the rails to he said.

"Stops like this one we'll be 8 were jammed with people every Earlier, he had apologized for ride, but a Lowell commuter had ahead, and he had to wait for sign proper switching.

"This is some of the nicest scenery railroad," Abbot said, once the E the Boston yards.

Up around Wilmington, the train throwing of a switch manually with the Andover rails. Richard Bedell, explained that the train was no switching which is located in Winchester when there were a lot of train noted.

A wave of the hand signalled the s and a blast of the horn by Bedell acknowledged our way once again, this time head. Asked about the roadbed, both A agreed it was good. "Very good iron better than some other routes," Abbot proached "double iron" - two sets of tr on Lowell Junction.

"Over there to the left is where we'd and on to Mechanicsville, N.Y.," Abbot right, at the junction, was another set used to carry the Andover commuter th to Boston.

A panel truck beat the train at a cross blinkers had signalled a stop. The driver knew the classification given him by the Soon the train began to slow for its Ballardvale.

"Well, this is it for the 'Vale,'" Bedell. "It's a damn shame," Abbot responded. In a matter of minutes the same commended the final stop at the Andover station ed up in part, occupied by small business tions.

Somewhere between that first ride 35 years the last one on Friday, rail transit slipped a than youthful memories.

And, I have to agree, it's a damn shame.

New Precinct List

Andover will have eight precincts instead of six beginning with election activity this year. If there is a special town meeting on Feb. 28, the new precinct lines will be in effect at that time as well as for the town election in March.

As a public service the TOWNSMAN this week continues a listing of those contained within specific precinct lines. Town Clerk Elden R. Salter states it would be helpful if the precinct listings were clipped and saved in order to facilitate voting procedures under the new districting.

In announcing his candidacy, Kolaski stated "Finding solutions to these problems require our best effort. We not face them successfully long as we view each other as adversaries. terms of the purchase agreement.

Not having to await a zoning change, which would take until October before being final, has allowed the Brothers and Crowninshield to restructure the option, based on a new timetable.

Agreement on purchase price has been reached, Singleton said.

Articles dealing with the creation of a new zoning law to cover the conversion of the building to apartments will remain in the warrant for the annual town meeting.

This will permit action of the voters at town meeting, should the zoning board of appeals deny the Crowninshield petition for a variance.

Last week, Crowninshield officials met with the selectmen during Thursday morning to review their plans and reasoning for going the zoning board of appeals route, rather than waiting for town meeting action.

That night they appeared before the appeals board.

Shawsheen neighbors and representatives of various town boards and committees concerned with the total package, spoke in favor of granting the variance.

The planning board requested and received permission to submit a list of suggested restrictions to be placed on the permit, if the zoning board grants the variance.

Key to the total package remains the town's obtaining of the land across Balmoral street from the Sacred Heart building, and also the Cardinal Cushing gymnasium on Haverhill street.

Chairman Milton Greenberg of the selectmen assured Crowninshield officials at their meeting last week that the town had a moral obligation to secure the land and buildings. Greenberg has been in contact with the Brothers of the Sacred Heart regarding the town's obtaining the land.

The town is hopeful of obtaining some federal and state funding to assist in the purchase price of the land. How much and whether or not approval could be granted could take as long as October to determine, since the Bureau of Outdoor Recreation which would administer the funding, will not have money available until that time.

With a board of appeals approval, Crowninshield could possibly get work underway in the late spring when favorable interest rates could be obtained for the financing of the project and construction costs would be lower.

Planning Bloodmobile

Bill McKissack, who is a candidate for an Eagle Scout award, is conducting a Red Cross Bloodmobile visit this Sunday as part of his work toward the top award. The bloodmobile will be at Ballard Vale United Church.

Plans Bloodmobile Visit

On Feb. 13, 1977 from 1 p.m. to 7 p.m. Eagle Scout Candidate Bill McKissack is sponsoring a Bloodmobile for the American Red Cross at Ballard Vale United Church.

Jan. 7, the Red Cross made an emergency appeal for blood donors due to a critical shortage of blood.

The Northeast Regional Red Cross Blood program covers Massachusetts and Maine. They have a commitment to provide the total blood needs of all patients of hospitals throughout Massachusetts and Maine. All hospitals of the Merrimack Valley Region are supplied by the Red Cross and served basically out of Methuen.

One pint of blood can be broken down to red blood cells which can be frozen; plasma which can also be frozen; platelets; cryoprecipitates (used in the treatment of hemophilia and other blood clotting deficiencies); packed red cells which are oxygen transporters; or washed red cells used for prevention and treatment of transfusion reaction.

About 500 pints of blood a week are used in the Merrimack Valley. 1300 pints a day must be collected throughout the Regional Blood program.

If you care to donate, call Bill McKissack, 20 Hemlock Road.

Friends Planning Membership Coffee

Octavia T. Ossola, director of Inservice Training at the New England Home For Little Wanderers will be the featured speaker at the annual membership coffee of the Greater Lawrence Chapter of Friends on Wednesday, February 16, from 10 a.m. till noon, at the Andover Historical Society, Main Street, Andover.

As a staff social worker, "Tavia" is directly involved in casework services at the Home. Through her personal involvement with the youngsters, she will afford members and guests insight into some of the work accomplished by the Home.

The New England Home For Little Wanderers is comprised of many facilities and services: regular and specialized foster service; interim foster home care; Orchard Home in Watertown; Everett House in Dorchester; Longview Farm in Walpole; day treatment program; child care center; family resources; adoptive and unwed parents services; own home social services; after care service; running the gamut of young people from infancy to age of maturity, all races and creeds.

This is the Year of the Friends, in honor of the Friends organization receiving the New England

Home's annual Statuette Award for outstanding service in recognition of the selfless and devoted service which has been rendered to the children in the Home's care since the founding of the Friends organization in 1960. The award was made this year in behalf of all Friends chapters throughout the state who work to facilitate the provision of many needed services to the children.

Following the program, a tour of the Andover Historical Society and Barn, escorted by a Tour Guide, will be offered. Anyone interested in learning about the Friends of the New England Home For Little Wanderers is welcome to attend. The prime motivation for activity in the Friends is love and service of children. Antique Show, Sale Set For Vale

The Ninth Annual Andover/Ballard Vale Antiques Exhibit And Sale, sponsored by the Women's Guild of the Ballard Vale United Church, will be held at the church, corner Clark Road and Hall Avenue (Route 93, Exit 16, Dascomb Rd. east to Clark Rd.), Feb. 18-19, Friday, 12-10 p.m., and Saturday, 10 a.m.-5 p.m.

The show is considered by buyers and exhibitors alike to be one of the outstanding antiques events of the area, and one that commences the spring season. The interior design of the building lends itself beautifully to exhibition purposes, and will once again come alive with the elegance and charm of yesteryear. Furniture, both formal and country, plus glassware, china, orientals, silver, antique jewelry, Indian jewelry, lamps, clocks, primitives, woodenware, brass, copper, pewter, toys, tools, pottery, quilts and many other hard-to-find heirlooms will be featured and offered for sale.

Despite tighter budgets, many of today's collectors, dealers and homemakers are finding that good antiques are a sound investment, holding their value, and offering pleasure and pride to their owners as they appreciate in value over the years.

Everyone is invited to come, browse or buy. There will be a "Home Cooking Country Kitchen" offering homemade luncheons, chowders and deserts, where shoppers may relax and visit with friends. There will be ample free parking facilities and tickets will be available at the door (children under 12 will be admitted free when accompanied by an adult).

Mrs. Grace Nicoll of Andover is the antiques show chairperson, and Loring C. Kasperson, Centre Chimney, Hollis, N.H. is the Antiques Show Director.

Operetta At Academy

The Music Department of Phillips Academy presents the newly-formed Phillips Academy Gilbert and Sullivan Society in performances of Gilbert and Sullivan's Trial by Jury, on Feb. 11 at 7 p.m., Saturday, Feb. 12 at 4:30 in the afternoon. The operetta will be performed in the Drama Lab in George Washington Hall at Phillips Academy.

Trial by Jury, which opened in London in 1875, was the first important collaboration between William S. Gilbert and Sir Arthur Sullivan. It is the only Gilbert and Sullivan operetta that contains no dialogue, but it is similar to the later, more famous operettas in style and humor. The plot, too, is typical of Gilbert and Sullivan. The action takes place during the trial of a case of Breach of Promise of marriage. The judge, usher, and jury are completely captivated by the beautiful plaintiff, Angelina, and prejudiced against the defendant, Edwin. However, through a series of characteristically complicated maneuvers, the court finally reaches a settlement that pleases everyone.

Most of the cast has often performed with the Phillips Academy Choir and in other P.A. productions. Christopher Shaw will play the part of the defendant. Joyce Rogers, as the plaintiff, has been a frequent soloist with the P.A. choir. Maged Tomeh will play the judge.

Caleb Ross, Timothy Stoneman, George Greene, and Lundy Bancroft play the various court officials, aided by the choruses of jurymen and bridesmaids.

The production is entirely student directed. Maged Tomeh, a veteran of numerous P.A.

dramatic productions, directs the operetta in addition to taking the part of the judge. Benjamin Lloyd is both musical director and conductor.

All performances are free and the public is cordially invited to attend.

Off The Top Of The Desk

By Robert E. Finneran, Editor

Off the top of the desk was once a weekly feature of the Townsman and more or less reflected a useful purpose — to get some interesting tidbits into print.

I thought it might be wise to salvage that heading this week to clear off some of the items which decorate the editor's desk — particularly in view of one of the charges which the selectmen seem to assign to their decision not to renew the town manager's contract.

Somewhere along the line they say that J. Maynard Austin has a cluttered desk.

This strikes fear in me. The publisher could walk into this office most anytime, particularly on Tuesday and Wednesday, and find a similar condition.

Based on a clean desk as a qualifier, my contract should have been torn up a long time ago and I should be gone before the spring thaw.

Another thing that scares me a little is a news item in last week's Townsman. The story dealt with the decision of the Franciscan Friars to close the high school at St. Francis Seminary on River Road.

Declining enrollments and vocations has caused the Friars problems in recent years.

What strikes fear is the fact that property lies in the heart of conservation country and Andover has a habit of going big for such things as salvaging buildings or huge tracts of land.

Remember the old Tyer Rubber warehouse on North Main street? It remained idle for a long time with a contractor planning to renovate it to office and apartment use.

After a substantial period of time, the spot looked like a pretty good place for a public safety center, so the town bought it.

In Shawsheen, we are on the verge of getting lucky. A developer wants to convert the Sacred Heart building into apartments and the town will get the remaining land for conservation and recreation.

The selectmen many months ago expressed concern about the future of Abbot Academy property off School street.

Some town officials have suggested buying the post office and leasing it back to the federal government to insure that the facility remain in the downtown area.

We bought the Doyle property off High Plain road for $300,000 plus, in order to prevent development and provide conservation and recreation land in the area. Now, we find the recreational use must be passive, which generally is defined as bring your skis and horses, but leave the baseball and bats at home.

Hopefully the Friars in West Andover will determine that their property has a useful, continued purpose, before conservation and recreation minded Andoverites spot the picnic tables down back in the woodlands.

One other item on this week's agenda is a word of praise for those involved in the formation and development of the traditional program at West elementary school.

This, in view of the recollection of the problems that preceded its opening — the surveys, the charges that it won't work because the administration doesn't want it to, etc.

It is pleasing to note that at the last school committee meeting, all indications show the program working quite well. It is meeting a need and in the words of the chairman of the parents council, "Overwhelming satisfaction, accompanies the program."

In view of what happened at the beginning, or the planning stage, should stand as proof that the effort was always there to conform to the town's wishes.

In the beginning, the slightest alteration in time schedule, the pointing out of requirements to begin such a system, were always taken as obstructionist tactics.

Now, given the time to plan, come up with the needs, there is satisfaction, and apparently a school system in Andover to meet the desires of all its people.

Gas Price Freeze Thaws As the Nation Freezes

by Jack Anderson
with Joe Spear

WASHINGTON -- As winter's icy tentacles grip much of the nation, many regions are faced with critical natural gas shortages. In many states, schools and factories have closed down for lack of heat. More than a million Americans have been laid off their jobs.

President Carter's emergency legislation proposal passed by Congress last week is designed to speed the flow of gas through interstate pipelines to the shivering population.

The natural gas bill will deregulate the price of fuel as it passes from state to state -- and that will mean higher prices. It will also mean that if Americans receive the $50 tax rebate promised by President Carter, the gas companies will really profit from the magnanimous gesture as citizens spend the money to meet higher fuel bills.

Our sources at the Federal Power Commission have shown us a confidential report that reveals that enough gas is committed to interstate pipelines to meet the needs of homes, schools, hospitals and small businesses.

Though the report confirms the Administration's projection that essential services will continue with the aid of the gas, the study also notes that "the legislation will be largely worthless as a means of avoiding widespread industrial dislocation next summer."

The study states that the petrochemical plants and oil refineries are burning up a huge volume of natural gas unnecessarily. Many of these wasteful plants are owned by the same oil companies that dominate the natural gas industry. It's a vicious cycle.

The confidential FPC report concludes that the distributors, not the suppliers, are short of natural gas. The commission wants to know whether "large amounts of producing capability are being held off the market" to drive up the prices of natural gas. The commission suspects, but lacks evidence, that the gas crisis may be a creation of the gas companies in their search for even greater profits.

Cold Comfort: The lid is about to blow off a multimillion-dollar fuel oil scandal dating back to the 1973 oil crisis. Federal indictments are imminent in Boston, Providence, Philadelphia and other cities.

After nearly four years, federal prosecutors have prepared cases against oil companies that illegally jacked up their prices during the 1973 Arab oil boycott. Phony companies and false transactions were used to push up oil prices. Sometimes cheaper Middle Eastern oil was mixed at sea with costlier Venezuelan oil. Then the entire cargo was sold at the higher Venezuelan prices.

The indictments were sometimes months in the making. Customs agents had to wait for ships to return to American ports where their logs could be grabbed and analyzed. But, the biggest prosecution obstacle was the Federal Energy Administration. That agency's sympathies seemed to be with the huge oil interests. Top FEA officials tried to discourage Customs agents from making their cases. According to one senator, the Federal Energy Administration "outrageously mismanaged" the price-gouging investigation.

Bitter Business: Many Americans are outraged by the fact that the Arab countries refuse to pump their petrodollars into U.S. firms that do business with Israel. Congress has been working on legislation to penalize the Arabs for their discriminatory practices. Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., had scheduled hearings for this week on the antiboycott legislation, but has quietly postponed the hearings.

We have learned that the State Dept. is opposed to the legislation since U.S. diplomats believe they can convince the Arabs to soften their stand through negotiation. Congressional action, according to the State Dept., would only antagonize the Arabs and cause them to get even tougher. We obtained a confidential briefing paper prepared for President Carter that revealed "State Department is interested in avoiding confrontation with the Arabs so that the U.S. can continue its efforts to promote progress toward a Middle East peace settlement."

The briefing paper goes on to say, "We should work with both the Congress and the Arab states to develop an approach which would meet Congressional concerns and avoid a confrontation with the Arabs on this issue."

Newly confirmed Secy. of State Cyrus Vance asked Sen.

Proxmire to put off his anti-boycott hearings at least until Vance returns from this trip to the Middle East. Secy. Vance hopes he can settle the issue quietly with the Arab leaders. Then he'll try to satisfy Congress that there is no need for legislation or economic sanctions against the Arab offenders.

Bilateral Advice: The top ten money-making Defense Dept. contractors have sent dozens of corporate executives to Washington for service on government advisory committees. Unfortunately, their service isn't always intended as a contribution to good government. These advisory committees give advice, which helps to determine what the government's policies will be in certain areas. The policies, of course, determine how much money will be spent. Then, it's not difficult to guess who winds up with a large share of the money the government is spending -- the same corporations whose executives were sent to Washington to whisper in official ears.

For example, McDonnell Douglas placed six of its corporate executives on government advisory committees last year. These included a key Defense Dept. advisory group. Not surprisingly, McDonnell Douglas ended up as the top military contractor during the 1976 fiscal year.

General Electric did even better. That corporation placed an astonishing 74 executives on government advisory panels. Many of them gave advice to the Pentagon. In 1976, General Electric wound up the fourth-largest Defense contractor.

All in all, the top ten Defense money-making contractors furnished 217 advisors to the federal government -- and apparently, their work paid off at both ends.

Leash Law

To the Editor of the TOWNSMAN

Oh! how we need a Dog Law and one that will be forced to the letter! But, please let's not compare our town to Lynn, but rather with a residential community like Winchester, which is quite comparable to Andover.

Tearing open refuse bags, tacking pets restrained in own yards, destroying garages, killing shrubbery, frightening pedestrians and "messing" sidewalks are enough complaints to justify a 24 hour leash law.

Winchester tried a Restraint Law, then a 12 hour leash law found them grossly inadequate. A 24 hour leash law is in its second year and has been very successful.

Here is Section 1 of that

"No person keeping, owning, having possession, custody or control of any shall cause, permit, suffer, allow the dog to stray, run, go in any manner at large upon any public street, sidewalk, school yard or group park or private property others without the express sent of the owner of such property, except such dog may be under control by means of a chain or leash not longer than six feet in length."

How is that for an introduction!

The penalties for violation First offense $10, Second offense $15, and Third Offense $20.

And the town clerk told me the number of dog licenses issued increased considerably during the first year the law in effect. In other words there was a large number of unlicensed dogs prior to its enactment.

A very important reason for the great success of this law is its strict enforcement by the Officer.

have to vote for two blank spaces on the ballot on election day.

Why can't the decision of Mr.
Austin's dismissal be reconsidered after the election? I'm sure if it were up to the townspeople of Andover, we would still have the privilege of Mr. Austin's fine service.

And, by the way, isn't it up to us?

Last year I voted for two people who promised they would be heard. I hear them alright — but only as echoes!

I have a suggestion for the job description that the selectmen could circulate in their search for a new town manager.

1. Do a quiet, efficient, dedicated job.
2. Listen to and work with the townspeople.
3. Invite in and work with industry that will blend in with An-dover's character.
4. Do your best to preserve An-dover's charming, rural characteristics.
5. Anticipate future growth problems — such as pumping stations etc.
6. Work with town boards.
7. Keep the tax rate down.

Do all this well and after five years you'll be fired. — ask Mr.
Austin!

I hope it's not too late to reverse their decision.

Mr. Austin's quiet, "down-East" charm had made town government seem much more personal. There is a feeling that your ideas count, that there is concern for the individual.

I can only suggest now that our selectmen got out and talk to the people of Andover and find out how we feel. They owe it to us and I naively believe it is their job.

Incentive

To the Editor of the TOWNSMAN

In the January 13 issue of The Townsmen the Andover League of Women Voters directs attention to the coming town elections and meeting. It reminds us of its long standing displeasure with the citizens' lack of response to office seeking.

However it would seem that the League's effort would be usefully employed in correcting the things that induce and nurture the citizens' tolerant neglect of civic affairs; if the League can be believed. Consider the following areas for action.

If few people seek selectmanship it may be (and some say it is intentional) the stipend is low. Consideration ought to be given to this corrective:
Make the fee $200.00 for each meeting attended with not more than 30 meetings a year. This would have several advantages.
Some follow:

Selectmen would come to meetings informed, or agreeing to inform themselves at a time certain instead of passing the buck to their array of subordinates as is the current practice.

Missing a meeting for any reason, including vacation or sickness, would cost the individual $200.00. (It is the office of Selectmen that must set the example of discipline and reliability for the rest of the personnel.)

This higher pay would induce the League's long sought citizen interest in local politics.

Overseeing the spending of $10,000,000 (and its collection) at a net cost to the town of less than one half of one percent is well in line with the practice of efficient private entities.

It would nurture in the selectmen the need to be competent, reliable, responsible and well versed in town affairs personally rather than being no more than spokesmen for friends and providers.

Those that are wealthy or think that they are not worth the fee, can correct that by returning the sum to the town's general fund.

It is hoped the League will put its shoulder to the wheel, or come up with its own plan that has some prospect of being efficacious. Talk continues to be wanting.

Double Overtime Game Highlights Action

The Andover Youth Basketball League completed the last of its regularly scheduled double sessions last week.

Feature was in the Intermediate Division as the Eagles picked up a double overtime win over the Tigers. In other action, the Cougars and Panthers tied for the Minors crown in the second of their three part season. That race will be decided by playoff this weekend. In the Majors, Villanova has taken the lead midway through the division's second half with Boston College and N. Carolina State a game off the pace. The Celtics hold the top slot in the Senior Division with the Bullets,

Lakers and 76ers a game behind. Intermediate Division

The Cougars, winners of the division's first period session, were tied by the Panthers as the second session wrapped up. Both teams finished with identical 4-1 records. The Eagles and the Tigers tied up in the league's longest game with the Eagles emerging with a thrilling double overtime win. In other games last Wednesday, the Cougars and Panthers picked up pressure victories to tie for the title.

Eagles - 11, Tigers - 9

The teams tied up in a real thriller with never more than a hoop separating them from the opening buzzer. The Tigers took a 7-5 lead at the half, but the Eagles came back to tie at 7 at the end of 3 periods and 9 at the end of regulation play. The 1st overtime period was scoreless as the defenses of both teams shone. Then, in sudden-death overtime, the Eagles Bill DiAdamo broke away to hit the game-winning hoop. DiAdamo finished with 9 points to lead all scorers. The Tigers are now 1-1 in overtime play, having dropped the Jaguars last month. The Eagles Jim Daly, John Muldoon and Liz Walsh keyed the victors defense while Dave Beanland and Mitch Levine played fine floor games for the Tigers.

Eagles: DiAdamo 9 and Brian Sheehy 2. 5-4-0-2-11.

Tigers: Rob Retelle 4, Mike Mercier 3 and Ed Lewandowski 2. 7-2-0-0-9.

Panthers - 15, Jaguars - 10
Scott Crabtree and Dean Orfanedes had outstanding defensive efforts for the Panthers as did Brian Gaudet for the Jaguars.

Panthers: Paul Marad 5, Andy McKissack 4, Frank Rossitto 4 and Joey Puccia 2. 9-6-11-5.

Jaguars: Tom Middleton 4, Rich Travis 4 and Kelly Shannon 2. 5-5-10.

Cougars - 34, Lions - 7
Brothers Dave and Mike Epstein played well for the Lions in a losing effort.

Cougars: Dereck Cevrueles 10, Jay Robbins 10, Colin Radford 6, Steve Boush 4 and Hai Dang 4. 16-18-34.

Lions: Brian Bedell 5 and Bill Foley 2. 3-4-7.

In Saturday's game, the Jaguars turned the tables on the Panthers and the Cougars and Eagles picked up back to back victories as the Minors opened their final session.

Jaguars - 5, Panthers - 4
Pat McLarney and Rick Moreau keyed the victors floor effort while Scott Crabtree and Steve Holt played fine floor games for the Panthers.

Jaguars: Kelly Shannon 2, Rich Travis 2 and Tom Middleton 1. 5-0-5.

Panthers: Paul Marad 2 and Andy McKissack 2. 4-0-4.

Eagles - 12, Tigers - 9
Trailing by 3 after 3 periods, the Eagles rallied behind Brian Sheehy and John Muldoon to pick up the win. Dan Fraser and Liz Walsh played fine all around games for the winners while Dave Nelson played well for the Tigers.

Eagles: Dave Fraser 4, Muldoon 4 and Sheehy 4. 6-6-12.

Tigers: Rob Retelle 3, Ed Lewandowski 2, Mike Mercier 2 and Rich Smith 2. 5-4-9.

Cougars - 26, Lions - 18

The Tigers rallied in the second half behind Brian Bedell and Ed Melia doing the scoring and John Horgan and Tom Kelly playing the defense, but the Cougars 12 point halftime lead was too much to overcome. Hai Dang played a fine floor game for the Cougars.

Cougars: Dereck Cevrueles 8, Jay Robbins 6, Mike Coelho 4, Colin Radford 4, Steve Boush 2 and John Lahood 2. 16-10-26.

Lions: Bedell 10, Bill Foley 4 and Melia 4. 4-14-18.

At the midpoint of the Intermediate - Majors second half schedule Villanova holds a one game edge over Boston College and N. C. State.

Harvard - 15, Dartmouth - 14
Harvard rallied in the 3rd period behind Scott Zimmerman and Matt Wells to lead by 3 going into the final quarter. Dartmouth then came back in the final minutes behind Jeff Parker and Scott Tobey, almost pulling the game out.

Harvard: Simmerman 10, Wells 3 and Jack Kramer 2. 1-14-dividual needs of all children. This is the trend nationally.

Most people tell me that all of the above is quite interesting, but it doesn't help them as parents to make the difficult decision regarding the correct classroom for their child. My answer is that parents should select the classroom that best fits their own educational goals and their child's particular learning style.

To this end, the following guidelines are suggested:

a. Talk to the traditional school principal and teachers about their educational approach. Visit the School and see how learning goes on.

b. Analyze as objectively as you can your child's temperament, learning ability, and interests. Is he or she orderly or mercurial, inquisitive or accepting, rambunctious or quiet? Is the child independent or dependent, active or passive? Does she follow or lead? Does she like to learn new things on her own, or wait to be told?

c. Examine your own values.

If, for example, you deeply cherish order and discipline and regard academic achievement as the basic purpose of schooling, you will be more satisfied with the traditional program. If you believe in child independence and self-expression and if you believe that schools have an important social as well as educational mission, you will prefer open education.

d. Don't be guided by the experience of others, even that of siblings. Some types of children seem to do well in certain environments. The shy and withdrawn, the easily distracted, and the methodical youngsters need order and direction. Their more energetic and independent contemporaries enjoy and benefit from an open atmosphere. It's a mistake to think that because Johnny did well in a particular situation, his sister Mary will do the same.

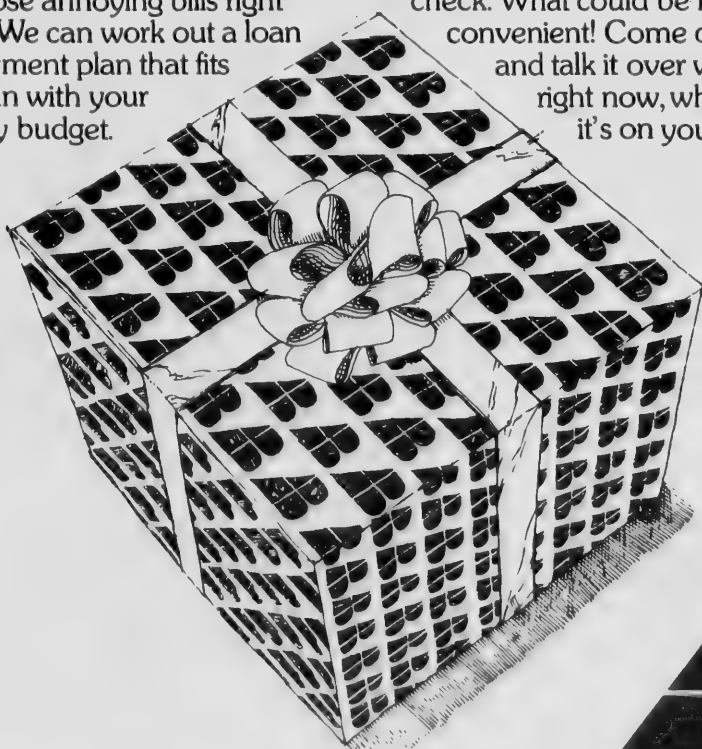

Controversy will probably continue over which is the best way to educate our youngsters. However, those involved in such debate are missing the point. Choice, not technique, is the important principle.

Warriors Suffer Absence Of Goals

LEN DRISCOLL PREVENTED A SHUT-OUT FOR CHELMSFORD BY SCORING THE WARRIORS' LONE GOAL IN A HARD FOUGHT GAME THAT ANDOVER LOST 5-1!

LEN DRISCOLL

By Rick Harrison

The Andover High hockey team could muster only one goal in 72 minutes of Merrimack Valley League play last week, and consequently the Golden Warriors dropped a pair of decisions to Wilmington (8-0) and Chelmsford (5-1).

The twin setbacks stretched the AHS losing streak through five games, during which time Coach Pete Anderson's crew has pocketed only six goals.

The overall record dipped to 4-10-0, but the schedule is due to lighten up over the last four games except for this Saturday's suicide mission against Billerica.

Wilmington, 8-0

Andover caught a strong Wilmington team (9-5-0) on the rebound, four days after the Wildcats had been eliminated from Eastern Mass. Tournament consideration with a tough 4-1 loss to Austin Prep.

Gordie Fitch launched the Wilmington attack at 2:50 of the first period, as Tom Gracia stole an attempted pass out and fed Fitch for a five foot flip past junior goalie Dave Hill.

Bill Blaisdell and Fitch added markers 88 seconds apart late in the period, and the Wildcats outshot Andover 14-1 to take a 3-0 lead.

Brian Tighe tipped home a

Tom Bavota shot from the left point at 10:41 of the middle stanza to up the difference to 4-0.

Wilmington then bunched its final four markers within a 2:55 span in the third period, and the last three of those came just 54 seconds apart.

The culprits were Gracia,

Blaisdell (partial breakaway), Paul Sullivan (30 foot slapshot from 2-on-1 break), and Jay Walden (five foot backhander).

Hill wound up with 24 saves as Andover was outgunned, 32-4, and the Warriors also went the entire game without picking up a penalty.

Chelmsford, 5-1

Chelmsford extended its undefeated streak through five games (4-0-1), and stayed alive for the tournament (9-4-1 overall), sweeping the season's series against the locals. CHS won the first game, 3-1.

Andover senior goalie Jeff Hubbell returned to the net, and for the first period he held the Lions off the board with several fine saves.

However, in the second stanza senior center Bob Field netted a three-goal "hat trick." Field broke the double shutout at 2:46 with a 10 foot backhander, and the score came just eight seconds before a 5-on-3 Chelmsford powerplay was slated to expire.

Field followed with a 30 foot slapshot at 4:44, the eventual game-winning red-lighter, and at 9:50 he deposited a backhanded rebound while the clubs were skating 4-on-4.

The lengthy dry spell for the Warriors ended at 0:38 of the final frame, when sophomore wing Len Driscoll collected his fourth goal.

Once again the teams were skating 4-on-4 when Rick Benson sent a pass out to Capt. Joe Pasquale at the left point. He unleashed a 50 foot wrist shot that Driscoll tipped over Lions' goalie John Tyros.

Chelmsford got it back with 1:42 to play, however, when Gary Spring trickled in a short shot immediately after a faceoff to the left of goalie Hubbell.

Once again the Andover Bantam A travelling hockey team will be visiting the cradle of hockey during the February school vacation, as the local crew will spend Feb. 20-26 in Toronto and Oshawa, Ontario.

The 12th annual Canadian junket features five games against comparable Bantam squads from across the border, and numerous other events are scheduled for the busy week.

The tentative agenda drawn up by Coaches Dick Neal, Paul McNamara Sr., Paul McNamara Jr. and Steve Weiner calls for a 7 a.m. departure from Andover on Sunday, Feb. 20.

If Buffalo is passable and not completely snowed in, the local troops will have an afternoon tour of Niagara Falls with an approximate 6 p.m. arrival in Toronto.

If Buffalo is paralyzed the group will by-pass the Falls and motor to Toronto by way of Montreal.

While in Toronto the players and chaperones will stay at a hotel, and the first night will consist of settling in and an early "lights out."

Monday's activities will include a 90-minute morning practice at Forest Hill Arena, an afternoon visit to the Hockey Hall of Fame, and the first game at North Toronto Memorial Arena that night.

Tuesday morning will feature a 90-minute workout at the McCormick Arena, followed by a 45-minute swim at the McCormick recreation center. Game two follows that evening at the Forest Hill Arena.

Wednesday morning a 90-minute practice will be held at the Moss Park rink, and that afternoon the team will visit the Bloorview Children's Hospital for a wheelchair hockey game between the Andover players and the Bloorview patients.

That night the local entourage will be at Maple Leaf Gardens

The game was also punctuated by 24 penalties. Andover was hit with 14 of them, including three double minors and a misconduct.

Steve Curtis took a slapshot on the leg and was injured in the game.

St. Augustine's Grabs Top Spot

By Rick Harrison

It's been a long climb, but St. Augustine A has finally taken over sole possession of first place in the Senior Division of the Andover Church Basketball League.

Lurking near the top or tied for the lead all season, St. Augustine A became the team to catch following its 48-35 conquest of Christ Church at the West Junior High gym.

That victory, coupled with Ballardvale United B's taut 30-28 triumph over previous co-leader St. Robert's B, left the division with only one frontrunner.

In other ACBL Senior play, Ballardvale United A topped South-Baptist, 48-36, and St. Robert's A coasted past St. Augustine B, 38-20.

With the season at the halfway mark, St. Augustine A is 6-1 and looking down at runners-up St. Robert's A, Ballardvale A and St. Robert's B at 5-2.

St. Augustine A, 48-35

The pacesetters didn't exactly waltz to their fifth straight victory, as Christ Church led 19-15 with two minutes to go in the first half and trailed only 22-21 early in the third quarter before St. Augustine A took charge.

Dave Gusmini hooped six points in the third period as the winners, who had seen St. Robert's B fall just moments before, pulled ahead 36-27. Dan Russo and Jim Hayes combined for 10 last quarter points to preserve the victory.

Sparked by Gary Lindsey's sharpshooting, St. Robert's took a 22-14 advantage after two minutes of the third quarter. However, BU went on a 10-2 run led by Jeff Roy to tie it 24-24 entering the fourth period.

Cautious play and fine defense featured the final period.

Roy hit a floor shot for a 26-24 BU edge, but Don O'Brien countered moments later to re-tie the game. Roy banked in another fieldgoal, but Lindsey swished a foul shot to make it 28-27 for BU.

Dick Danner's charity toss tied it 28-28 with 3:00 to play, and following several turnovers and missed shots, Roy pocketed his clutch game-winner with 25 seconds remaining.

Jeff Roy was game-high for BU with 19 points, 15 of them in the second half. Scott Mattheson and Bill Crabtree added 4 markers apiece, while Dave Livingston scored 3 points.

Both clubs were 2-for-8 from the foul line.

Loading A Musket

Loading a 1775 flintlock required 10 separate motions. The loader tore the paper cartridge with his teeth, sprinkled powder in the priming pan, then rammed the cartridge down the barrel with his ramrod. Pulling the trigger, the hammer (holding a flint) struck a spark to ignite the powder in the pan, and this fired the cartridge. Loading and firing took 20 seconds. For national defense, today's minutemen — the Massachusetts National Guard, are equipped with modern, automatic rifles that fire many times in a minute.

Old Faithful.

New Faithful.

Good Old Faithful. Always got you where you were going. Always did it economically. And now, after 27 years and 33 million cars, it's still a symbol of dependability and economy.

Now there's a car that's just as reliable and economical as Old Faithful ever was. It's New Faithful. The 1977 VW Rabbit. With engineering so advanced that automotive experts have hailed it as the kind of car Detroit will be building in the 1990's.

The Rabbit has a new fuel injection system, so it starts up quick as a bunny. Springs like one, too. 0 to 50 in just 7.7 seconds. The Rabbit also has advanced engineering features like negative steering, roll radius, rack and pinion steering, and an independent stabilizer rear axle.

New Faithful lives up to Old Faithful's reputation for economy, too. Because it has fuel injection, you can use the most economical grade of gas. But you won't have to use it very often. Rabbit gets 37 mpg on the highway, 24 in the city (that's EPA's estimate for manual transmission. Actual mileage may vary, depending on driving habits, car's condition and optional equipment).

Dependability and economy. That's what Old Faithful gave a whole generation of Americans. And that's what New Faithful is giving a whole new generation of Americans.

Girls' Basketball Results

Bancroft-12; Sanborn-6

The Bancroft Bombers continued their winning ways as they topped the Sanborn Sharp Shooters in weekend action. Lisa Silverio, Ressa Tornessella, Barbara Cullinan, Amy Conroy and Wendy Young each contribute to the Bomber 10 point half time lead which was all that was necessary for the Bombers to tuck away their second victory of the season. The Bombers got some good defensive help from Marry Morrisson, Liz Milkin, Debbie and Denise Ferris, Kim Seifert, Kathy Gremmell, Ann Flemming, Maria Recesso and Tracey Knowles.

Ellen Byrne, Susan Burke and Shelly Marios scored baskets for the Sharp Shooters while Brenda Craig, Sandy Bullin, Marg Carlisle, Kristina Zissis and Kerri Walshe turned in fine defensive efforts.

South-8; West-6

The South Super Shooters won over the Mighty Mite Pee Wees of West Elementary by a score of 8-6.

Katie Brunquell and Kelly Bernard each scored 4 points for South. Connie Corkery and Allison Hill were the scorers for West. Both teams played excellent offense and defense keeping the game close.

Bancroft "A"-4; West-4

The teams played the first double overtime game of the season which resulted in a tie — a first for the Recreation/Community Schools department Girls' Basketball League.

Streakers-16; Shooters-0

The Sanborn Supersonic Streakers won their second straight game with a 16-0 victory over the Sanborn Supersonic Shooters. Though the Shooters played very hard, the Streakers' team play and stingy defense was too much to handle. Behind the scoring of Joyce Palma, Gina Comparato and Louise Perry and the all-around play of Jan Goldstein, the Streakers went ahead 6-0 in the first half. In the second half, Cathy Ainscow, Jessica Balboni and Susan Plummer increased the score to 16-0 along with the good passing and team work of Angela Coon, Marie Ionozi and Margery Saffron. Stacy Hostetter and Alyssa McCabe played well for the Shooters.

Doherty B's-28; Doherty A's-0

The Doherty B's made it two in a row as they soundly defeated the Doherty A's 28-0. Doherty B's came out very strong and led 16-0 at the end of the first half. At the end of the 3rd quarter the score was 18-0 as little Jenifer Kirkland scored the lone basket. In the 4th quarter the Doherty B's scored five baskets to end the game 28-0. Scorers for Doherty B's were Kelly O'Shea, Laura Grams, Marilyne Sweeney, Wendy Carver, Kristen Wilson, Wendy Prugh and Jenifer Kirkland. Outstanding players for Doherty A team, which is coached by Ted Boudreau, were Jenna Powell, Lisa Boudreau, Michell Munn and Sue Redfern.

Cullinan Outstanding In Goal

By Rick Harrison

Veteran goalie Dave Cullinan turned in a pair of outstanding performances, but the Andover Bantam A traveling hockey team was forced to settle for a two game split last weekend.

Coach Dick Neal's crew, which leaves on its annual Canadian trip in 10 days, edged the Portland, Maine Bantams 3-2 at Phillips Academy and then bowed 4-1 to Concord, N. H. in the Granite State.

The results left Andover with a 4-8-0 overall record.

Andover, 3-2

Andover battled back from a pair of single goal deficits, and Cullinan continually frustrated the visitors from Portland, Maine over the last half of the game.

"Dave made several miraculous saves on what seemed like sure goals," confirmed Neal. "He made at least two of them in the second period, after we took the lead, and another during the last three minutes of the game."

Portland grabbed a 1-0 edge at 7:41 of the opening period, slipping a four foot shot past starting netminder Dave Leitch after some sustained pressure.

Wayne Merola tied it 1-1 during an Andover powerplay at 11:32, taking a perfect feed from center Joe Cahill and depositing a 10 foot shot from the slot. Defenseman Ken Southworth also assisted on Merola's 10th red-lighter of the season.

Portland pocketed its final goal at 3:15 of the middle stanza, a 10 footer from the left side that beat Leitch.

Winger Joe Cammarata re-tied

Music Of Spheres At Museum

The romantic-at-heart are invited to a program of music and dancing at Boston's Museum of Science on St. Valentine's Day, Feb. 14, from 8:30 to 9:30 p.m.

As a museum benefit, "Music of the Spheres" is open to everyone, smitten or not by Cupid's arrow. Guests have a choice of four concerts by students of the New England Conservatory — jazz, woodwind, string, or baroque groups. An hour of dancing in the museum's Great Gallery follows. Refreshment tables are to be set up amid such exhibits as the towering dinosaur and the lunar landing craft.

Sponsored by the volunteer Service League, the program is directed by chairperson Ruth Levin. Stephanie Highberg is in charge of decorations. Her students from the Chamberlayne Junior College are constructing five-foot-high patchwork hearts and heart-inscribed sheet music 500 feet long to hang around the Gallery.

Information about reservations may be obtained by calling the Service League.

the score 2-2 four minutes later, notching his ninth goal with set-ups to Cahill and rear-guard Joe Benson.

"Joe carried the puck right to the goalmouth and pushed it home, after the goalie went down for the first save," recalled Neal.

Bruce Belbin assumed the hero's role at 9:24, a mere 1:46 after Cammarata's score, as the Andover center registered the game winning tally by punching home the rebound of Mike Ganem's blast. Blueliner Tony Giannone also assisted.

Cullinan was the star of the show during the scoreless final period. Portland pulled its goalie with 28 seconds left, but the visitors from the Pine Tree State failed to net the equalizer.

There were only four penalties in the game, three of them against Portland, and the Maine team did not have a single powerplay opportunity.

Concord, N.H. 4-1

"Concord beat us to the puck constantly throughout the game, but Cullinan kept us in the game with more excellent goaltending," related Neal.

The New Hampshire crew took a 1-0 edge at 1:27 of the first period, as one of their left wingers circled the Andover defense and broke in alone to score.

The eventual game winning goal came at 0:38 of the second frame, as again the locals' defensemen were beaten inside their own blueline.

Bruce Belbin's sixth goal put Andover back in contention, 2-1, as he scored seven seconds into an Andover powerplay and just 42 seconds after the Concord tally.

"He placed a third rebound into the top corner after their goalie made saves against Wayne Merola, Joe Cammarata and Belbin in front," commented Neal.

Concord scored a controversial insurance goal at 8:18 of the middle period for a 3-1 advantage.

"There was a delayed penalty being called against us," stated Neal. "Concord had its goalie out and a sixth skater on. At one point our defenseman cleared the puck to the corner, but the referee ruled we didn't have control and no whistle was blown.

"Play continued and they eventually jammed the puck in from close range."

The locals were hit with four minor penalties during the final period, and five seconds into the

Some New Programs Possible

Despite a "frozen" teaching budget, Andover schools may see some new programs next year.

The teaching account — which pays for activities in the classroom — was frozen at $400,000 for three years last year, but in 1977-78 it will be sufficient for some "new emphasis" programs.

Supt. Kenneth R. Seifert told the school committee last week that they had managed to cut back the "maintenance" aspect of classroom programs to the point that about $30,000 can be poured into new programs that will be chosen on a competitive grant basis.

Some 39 proposals are under consideration, including math labs, a cultural series, social studies enrichment for kindergarten, expanded career education in the junior highs, a merchandising course, study carrels for the high school research center and a drum and bugle corps.

School Committee Chairman

met with Sargent Shriver on his visit there this week to obtain information on the Peace Corps and Poverty programs.

IRS Commissioner Sheldon S. Cohen will be on hand Feb. 23 for the formal dedication of the new IRS North Atlantic Service Center on Lowell Street.

Selectman Sidney P. White has suggested that the manager charter be revised to allow submission of the annual budget later than the present Dec. 1, deadline.

Selectman Robert A. Watters has announced he will seek another term on that board in the March election. Atty. Irving L. Newman announces candidacy for the school committee.

George Olesen suggested during discussion on the account that allotting the same dollars means that per pupil costs are up, since student enrollment is down. Seifert responded that inflation has eaten up more than the decreased enrollment has saved.

Other accounts in the second year of a three-year freeze include pupil transportation at $311,000, and student body at $86,000.

The transportation figure was questioned by Finance Committee Chairman Charles Wesson, who asked for backup material. He said the committee was asking a great deal of the administration to operate with the same dollars, "considering the cost of fuel."

The student body account includes all expenditures for the athletic programs.

Other 1977-78 accounts which so far remain the same as the current school year's appropriations include library services, $40,000; guidance, $24,000; administration, $31,500; principals, $19,750; audio visual, $20,000 and health services, $9,000.

Olesen noted that the guidance department last year covered grades one through 12, but this year grades 9 to 12 only. Five elementary guidance counsellors were replaced last fall by two school adjustment counsellors.

Seifert countered that the biggest costs in the guidance account are for testing, postage and duplicating, not counsellor expenses.

The committee will finish up its second round on the 1977-78 budget at its meeting Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in Stowe School. It'll have a final pass before it meets with FinCom March 22.

So far few alterations have been made since the committee's preliminary approval of a $10,684,820 budget early in January. That budget — $8.5 in salaries and $2,184,820 in expenses — would represent an increase of about $2 on the tax rate, according to Olesen's "best estimate."
